

JULY 4 TRAFFIC MAY FLOW OVER NEW ROUTE 30

Holiday motor traffic on July 4th may be rolling into Gettysburg over the new Lincoln highway west of here if final grading of the shoulders can be completed and guard rails installed by that date.

There was every indication that the new road between McKnightstown and Newman's park would be open by July 4 unless inclement weather prevents completion of the remaining work and acceptance of the new road by the state Department of Highways.

The latter was reported as being extremely anxious to get the highway open to traffic for the holiday, and the contractor, C. J. Langenfelder and Son, Baltimore, was endeavoring to get the remaining work done in time. Pouring of concrete was completed on June 13.

Eliminates Curves, Hills

The new highway passes through some of the most beautiful scenery in the state and opens up wide vistas which could not be glimpsed from the old highway. Some of the cuts are 60 feet and more deep, and at many points, hundreds of tons of fill were required.

Almost straight from the point where it leaves the old Lincoln highway just east of McKnightstown until it joins the section completed last year from Newman's park to Chambersburg, the highway eliminates several dangerous curves and steep grades, and ascends Mt. Newman in one long, easy climb.

Considerably wider than the old highway, the new one is built in three lanes instead of two. Work was started in 1948, and part of the concrete poured on the extreme east end last year. Work on the cuts and fills was not completed until this spring.

Work is also expected to be completed on the new concrete flooring of two bridges over Rock creek, one on the Hanover road just east of town and the other near Harney, by July 4 or sooner.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN LOCAL CHURCH

A Children's Day worship service will be observed in Christ Lutheran church Sunday at 10:45 a. m. The Scripture lesson will be read by Peter Pennington followed by a song response from the junior choir during which Caroline Putman will sing a solo. Church members and friends will be welcomed by Martha Lanning.

A playlet, entitled, "Outgrowing Children's Day," will be given with Mrs. Lester Johnson portraying the part of the mother and Albert Bachman and Suzanne Zeigler her very "grown-up" children. Others included in the cast of the play are: Jean Richardson, Eddie Tilberg, Michael Cann, Freddie Tilberg, David Johnson, John Ahrens, Douglas Bream, Carol Lucinda Cann, Jack Halkin, Janet Johnson, Stevie Schmidt, and Gordon Richardson.

The children's sermon, "The Story of Three Christians," will be presented by the pastor, the Rev. Wallace E. Fisher.

Ushers for the day are Edwin Bachman, Richard Pennington, Phelps Pennington, Jerry Peters and Jack Thrush.

Music for the service will be provided by the junior choir.

Martin Park Is Sold To Reddings

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Redding, East Stevens street, have purchased Martin park, along the Emmitsburg road at Marsh creek.

The local couple was given possession of the property Friday by George R. Martin, local shoe store operator, who has owned the park since 1944. The ten-acre property adjoining the stream and road was first developed by Emory Gulden, who sold it to Martin. A number of buildings including summer cabins, a refreshment stand and similar structures are located on the property.

ON CRUISE TO ITALY

Raymond F. Carter, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carter, Gettysburg R. 1, has been on a ten-day visit to Naples, Italy, as a crew member of the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

ASK LIONS' REPORTS

A softball game before the weekly dinner meeting and annual reports from all committees are on the schedule for the Gettysburg Lions club Monday evening at Sheffer's park. The meal will be served at 6:30 p. m.

William Robinson Commits Suicide

The body of William Arthur Robinson, 57, a cabinet maker of near Quincy, Pa., was found hanging by a rope fastened around his neck and tied to a rafter in the barn at his home at 3:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Franklin County Coroner S. D. Shull, who investigated the death, issued a certificate of suicide.

Members of the family with whom Robinson made his home told Dr. Shull that he had been in ill health with nervous and mental disorders since last December. Robinson, a bachelor, had a life estate in the home in which he resided, Dr. Shull said.

Surviving is a sister and seven half-brothers and five half-sisters, one of whom is Clyde Rosenberger, of York Springs.

Funeral services at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Walter Y. Grove funeral home, Waynesboro, in charge of the Rev. Benjamin Miller. Burial in the Quincy cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening.

COLLEGE GRAD TO BE WED IN LOCAL CHAPEL

The marriage of Miss Daryl Ethel Clement, of Blairsville, and Mr. L. Fausold, of Scottsdale, will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Church of the Abiding Presence.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, Thomas C. Clement, will wear white tulle, with a tier of graduated ruffles going into a train. She will wear a veil of illusion attached to a sweetheart bonnet and will carry a wedding Bible ornamented with two white orchids and with a shower of stephanotis.

Her mother of honor will be Miss Alma Dobson, of Pittsburgh, who will wear blue and green and will carry a cascade bouquet. She will have a floral tiara.

The bridesmaid will be her sister, Miss Carol Anne Clement, whose gown will be of orchid and she, also, will carry a cascade bouquet and wear a floral tiara.

The best man will be George M. Fausold, of Blairsville and the ushers will be Samuel Fausold, of Ambridge, and James Sheaffer, of Williamsport, brothers and brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Reception At Hotel

Before the ceremony Mrs. William Davidson, of Johnstown, will sing "Untill" and "Thanks Be to God." The organist, Mrs. George Fausold, of Blairsville, will play the traditional wedding marches. The ceremony will be performed by Dr. William C. Waltemeyer.

Immediately following the wedding a reception will be held at Hotel Gettysburg. The honeymoon will be spent in Virginia.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Clement, of Blairsville, and a graduate in trained nursing from the Allegheny General hospital, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Fausold is a graduate of Gettysburg college in the class of 1944. He served in the navy during the war, attaining the rank of lieutenant (j.g.). He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

They will live in Scottsdale where Mr. Fausold and his brother are engaged in the dairy business.

PLAN IOOF SERVICE

Gettysburg Lodge No. 124, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will conduct a memorial service for deceased members of the organization Tuesday evening in connection with the regular meeting. The session will be held at 8:30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Dam Is Repaired By Water Company

Bream's dam, on Marsh creek near the Fairfield road, about two miles west of town, is becoming a popular swimming place again.

Reports at the meeting of the Adams county Fish and Game Association held on Thursday at Fairfield showed that the Gettysburg Water company has repaired the dam and that it is full of water and running over the spillway.

During the past several years the dam has been deteriorating, and one side had given away, permitting the water to flow off. That side is now repaired.

The structure was built a number of years ago by the county Fish and Game Association and has been maintained by a joint effort of the fish and game and Gettysburg Water company as a source of additional water for Gettysburg during dry spells and as a fish conservation site.

Jewelry clearance begins Monday and continues through Saturday to make room for new merchandise. More than 600 pieces at 20% to 50% reductions. Thomas Bros., Biglerville.

ARMY RESERVE UNIT SEEKS 11 MORE MEMBERS

Company E, 315th Infantry, local Army Reserve outfit, Friday night announced plans to intensify its search for 11 more members in order to fill out the increased table of organization for the unit.

Capt. Donald Sheely, commanding officer of the outfit, urged World War II members to join the unit, if possible before July 1, and pointed out that under the reserve plan the unit is a cadre group, with all members eligible for non-commissioned officer ratings.

Three members of the company are scheduled to attend summer camp of the 79th Division, which will be held at Indiantown Gap starting today.

Start Summer Training

Those from the company attending the two week session include Lt. Sebastian Hafer, Carlisle street; Cpl. Louis Berenna, Emmitsburg, and Pfc. Harry Strevig, Littlestown, Captain Sheely said.

The company will begin its schedule of summer training on July 15, the company commander said. Meetings between now and July 15 are being discontinued as all permitted sessions have been carried out for the current year. The group begins its new year in July.

"Maps and Aerial Photographs" will be the subject of instruction July 15; "Administration of Supply Within a Unit" is scheduled for the meeting discussion on the July 29 meeting. "Air-Ground Operations" will be the topic August 5, "Organization of the Squad, Section and Platoon" and "Organization of Reconnaissance and Combat Patrols" is scheduled as the instruction August 19. "Squad and Platoon Tactics" will be the subject September 16 and "The Rifle Company in the Attack" is the title for instruction September 30.

Friday evening, at the session held on the third floor of the Lantz American Legion home, Baltimore street, Lt. Nicholas Verrastor, of Mt. St. Mary's college, spoke on "Camp Sanitation."

SUV COMMITTEE ON NOVEMBER 19 IS ANNOUNCED

Preliminary plans for the November 19th celebration this fall were discussed Friday evening at the regular meeting of the local camp of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Named to a committee to make arrangements for the observance were Attorney William L. Meals, chairman; T. J. Winebrenner, Dr. Joseph H. Riley, David A. Tawney, Arthur W. Warman and G. Henry Roth.

Because the observance of the date Lincoln dedicated the Gettysburg National cemetery falls on a Saturday this year, it was felt that possibly a larger attendance can be attracted to the observance and that an enlarged program might be carried out.

Doctor Riley, chairman of the float committee for July 4, reported that a truck has been secured for use by the Sons of Veterans and that plans are underway to have the float constructed prior to the July 4 parade.

An attempt will be made to secure a United States flag of the 1863 period, with the smaller number of stars, for use on the float in addition to other equipment recalling the Civil War period. If possible, the float will attempt to recreate a scene of the battle of Gettysburg.

Following usual custom, the camp voted to hold only one meeting a month during July and August. The July meeting will be held on July 15 and the next meeting, August 19.

Following the meeting refreshments were served with Doctor Riley and Mr. Winebrenner acting as the committee in charge.

Church Society Holds Supper Friday

The Women's Missionary Society of Christ Lutheran church had a supper for members and guests in the church basement Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. E. A. Crouse, president, presided. Mrs. Herbert Schmidt led the group in devotions, after which Mrs. Crouse introduced Reverend Wallace E. Fisher, pastor, who commended the society for "its earnestness in worship; its maturity in stewardship and zeal in personal witnessing."

His subject was "Prayer and our Human Inguinity." He made an appeal "for prayers and planning, for linking our minds with the Eternal Mind, for walking humbly with the Christian God. Thus the society will go forward bravely and sacrificially to new heights in Christian faith and action."

111 Degrees In Texas; Flash Floods In West Virginia And Montana Calls Snowplows

(By The Associated Press)

Harsh extremes in weather dotted the country today — bringing attendant death and destruction.

There were rain-hungry and rain-soaked areas, a few small tornadoes, hail, wind and electrical storms. In Montana, snowplows were in operation.

In the heart of West Virginia's eastern panhandle flash floods forced thousands to flee their homes. Entire communities were isolated. The north and south branches of the Potomac river, fed by torrential rain, swirled over their banks, flooding wide areas.

The flash floods gave signs of subsiding today but two towns still were blocked and further evacuations were planned.

Some Reported Missing

The crest of the flood, which struck last night after torrential rains, rolled on northeast towards Romney, W. Va., and Cumberland, Md.

Police said there were "unconfirmed reports" that eight to ten persons were missing in the Petersburg-Moorefield, V. Va., area. Communication was difficult, however, and police were attempting to verify the reports.

They were unable to confirm a report that at least five persons were lost in the Moorefield area.

Two persons were reported missing at Harrisonburg, Va., after a flash flood poured a river through the heart of Bridgewater, a 1,000-population college town just southwest of this Shenandoah Valley city.

A woman and her three children were reported marooned in a tree, their house having swept a mile from its foundations through the middle of Bridgewater and past the Bridgewater college campus. Rescue was not immediately possible because of the turbulent waters.

Texas Sizzles

A mass of cool air spread over the northern Rockies and the northern plains states and was expected to move into north central states during the week-end. The mercury didn't climb above 50 at Helena, Mont., yesterday.

But at Presidio, Tex., thermometers sizzled at 111. The mercury hit above the 100 mark in Arizona and New Mexico but rains broke the heat spell.

No immediate relief appeared in prospect for the parched northeastern section of the country. No rain has fallen in central New York state for 24 days and New York city hasn't had any rain for 22 days.

Some falls hit scattered parts of the metropolitan area yesterday and light showers fell over some sections of the state. But not enough to alleviate the forest fire hazard and damage to crops.

LEASE 100 ACRES IN BUTLER TWP. TO TRAIN DOGS

The Adams County Fish and Game Association has leased 100 acres of land in Butler township to be used as a training area for dogs, the group announced today.

Decision to lease the land from Mrs. J. E. Fleck, and J. W. Smiffen, both of Butler township, was reached at a meeting of the fish and game group Thursday evening in the Fairfield community hall.

With the securing of the lease the association has applied to the state for permission to operate such a training area and expects to have it set up as soon as the permission is granted.

To Add Game Annually

George R. Martin, named as chairman of the committee in charge, said the organization will have to stock the area with game each year and can permit no hunting on the preserves if it wishes to secure and maintain the state license.

However, Martin pointed out, because game migrates normally to other sections the establishment of the training area will increase hunting generally throughout this section. (Please Turn to Page 7)

"Cold Weather," Work Of Noted Gettysburg Painter Placed On Exhibit Here

Mrs. A. E. Rollins, of "Ragged Edge," Orrtanna, is the owner of an oil painting, "Cold Weather," which was done by Charles Morris Young, Gettysburg's leading painter, now a resident of "Hare's Lane," Radnor, Pa. The painting, which has been pronounced by Garing's art gallery, Chicago, as a valuable work, was exhibited at the 66th annual exhibition of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia in 1896 and 1897.

The painting will be placed on exhibition in the display window of Lippy's Men's store, Chambersburg street, beginning Monday.

It was given to Mrs. Rollins more than 30 years ago as a wedding present, and hung over the fireplace in her home. Mr. and Mrs. Rollins resided in Chicago, but spent their summers at Orrtanna for 20 years. Mr. Rollins died in 1942 and Mrs. Rollins came to Orrtanna to live four years ago.

Lived On Taneytown Road

Mr. Rollins was Oxford editor of Compton's pictured encyclopedia for 25 years. Mrs. Rollins' grandfather was head of the Moravian church in Bethlehem and her father was a Presbyterian minister, who also taught in Chicago.

Mr. Young, now 78, one of Adams county's most distinguished sons, was born on his parent's farm a mile south of Gettysburg along the Taneytown road. Later the farm was owned for a number of years by Lloyd Durboraw, and a few years ago was purchased by Timothy Farrell, who recently sold it.

The painter, who is also noted for many scenes of the Adirondack mountains, is a son of the late Christopher and Anna L. (Swisher) Young. Mr. Young conducted a studio in the McPherson building, Baltimore street, for several years.

4-H CLUBBERS TO CAMP JUNE 29

June 29 was set as the date for the annual summer Day Camp of Adams county 4-H club members. The date was selected at a meeting of the committee in charge held at the county Agricultural Extension association office at the court house here Friday night.

No location was immediately announced for the affair which annually attracts more than 100 county members from among the membership of the various 4-H clubs.

Representatives on the committee are Jane Withrow, Barlow, Martha Martin and Vincent Martin, both of Gettysburg R. 4; Fred Crouse, Gettysburg R. 1; and Teresa Murren, Hanover R. 4. The group met with Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative, and Ira N. Dunmire, assistant county farm agent.

Miss Murren, Miss Withrow, Vincent Martin and Crouse were named as a recreation committee and Miss Martin and Miss Murren were selected as the committee in charge of supper.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

Horace Hildreth, of the Small Business Economic Foundation, in a recent address said:

"Have we forgotten that since the dawn of civilization a very small percentage of the men who have walked this earth have known any appreciable degree of freedom? Have we lost sight of the fact that probably less than 5 per cent of all the men and women who have lived their span on this planet actually could call their souls their own? Have we overlooked the terribly significant truth that even in this enlightened age, less than one-fourth of the world's population knows, or has experienced freedom even remotely comparable to that which we consider the inalienable right of every American?"

"It has been well said that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. Let us resolve that the great nation we have built in the free exercise of individual initiative — the nation that has provided so much of good living to so many — shall not be undetermined by those who, in ignorance or cupidity would plunge it into a world of economic darkness. Let us each shout the praises of the best system of government the world has yet known. In that let us be both vigilant . . . and vocal."

Honored

Thomas R. Murren, Hanover R. 4, shown below, is representing Pennsylvania at the National 4-H camp being held at Washington, D. C. Murren and another young farmer from Lawrence county were selected from throughout the state to be the two male representatives from Pennsylvania at the conference. The selection of Murren marks the first time Adams county has been so honored. The selection was made on outstanding ability as a farmer and outstanding activity in 4-H work.

BIBLE SCHOOL SESSION ENDS IN LITTLESTOWN

Appropriate closing exercises were held Friday morning in the Centenary Methodist church for the Community Daily Vacation Bible school, which was sponsored by the Littlestown Ministerium from June 6 to 17 in the Littlestown grade school building. A brief program, revealing some of the things taught, was presented by each department. Approximately 75 parents attended these exercises.

Program by the Beginners department which comprised the preschool age children included; a recitation, "Welcome" by Marilyn Miller; a song, "Hush! Be Very Quiet"; an exercise, "Pins"; recitals, "Tick Tock" and "Tip Toe"; recital of the Bible pledge; a song and memory verse by the group.

Primary A department recited in unison, "Speak the Truth." Primary B department presented stories of "God," "Our Heavenly Father," "Moses," "Saul," "Elisha," "Joseph." This department also did considerable handwork including wall plaques made of plaster paris and Roman sandals.

Certificates Given

Units of the Junior department presented their program jointly which consisted of memory verses by Gloria Burgoon; the morning prayer by Margaret Knight; recital of the 12 apostles by the group; and a Bible quiz in which the entire department participated.

The Intermediate department was in charge of the scripture lesson of the morning which was St. Matthew 5:1-16, read by Daria Lemmon and Patricia Long. A Bible quiz was presented by the department.

After the program, pupils and parents returned to their class rooms, when certificates were awarded those who met the requirements. A total of 156 received certificates, 124 of which were gold star, signifying a perfect attendance; 23 of which were red stars, denoting an absence of one day and nine were plain certificates, indicating two absences. Those who missed more than two days did not receive any award.

DRIVER SMACKS TWO CARS NEAR M'SHERRYSTOWN

An automobile driven by U. Edward Burke, 38, of Hempstead, N. Y., sideswiped the car of Willard O. Doss, 33, of Littlestown R. 1, and then hit a second car, at 1:45 o'clock Friday afternoon two miles west of McSherrystown on the Gettysburg-Hanover road, according to a state police report.

Burke was driving east, and drove over to the left side of the highway on a sharp curve, police said. After hitting the Doss car, Burke ran into a car driven by Henry Nahm, 43, of Brooklyn, N. Y.

$1,000 Damages

No one was injured. Damage to the Burke car was estimated at $500, to the Doss car at $5 and to Nahm's car at $500.

Three cars were involved in an accident on Carlisle street near Race Horse alley at 8:40 p. m. Friday night, borough police reported.

A car driven by Harvey A. Shearer, Gettysburg R. 3, passed one driven by Alex T. Perdue, Pine Bluff, Ark., and struck the front fender of the Perdue car, the report said. Perdue's car was forced to the right and struck a parked automobile owned by Richard Gardner, 227 Steinwehr avenue.

Damage to Shearer's car was estimated at $50; to Perdue's car at $75 and to Gardner's car at $20. No one was injured.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Jacquelyn Anne Hess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Selmar H. Hess, 233 Chambersburg street, and Bernard William Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Little, 340 South Washington street, have secured a marriage license here. They plan to wed this afternoon in Harrisburg.

LOCAL GIRL IS MARRIED HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Miss Coetta E. Bream, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin U. Bream, 310 North Stratton street, became the bride of Joseph P. Chalker, son of Joseph H. Chalker, and the late Mrs. Viva Chalker, of Wellsville, N. Y., this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in St. James Lutheran church.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by Dr. Ralph R. Orsh, pastor. The church was decorated with rhododendrum, white gladioli, snapdragons and white tapers with white bows and spring flowers adorning the pews. Professor Richard Shade presided at the organ and played "Intermezzo" by Heinrich Provoost, and "My Heart at thy Sweet Voice" by C. Saint Saens. Robert Hamilton, soloist, of Orrstown, Pa., sang "At Dawning" by Cadman, "Because" by D'Hardelot, and "Always" by Berlin. During the ceremony he sang "Wedding Prayer."

Bride's Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white marquisette gown with insertions of white chantilly lace over slipper satin. The dress had a low neckline with a ruffled bertha, long pointed sleeves, and a peplum forming the bustle and long train. Her tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Rena Hess, Gettysburg, who attended the bride as matron-of-honor, wore yellow frosted marquisette over yellow taffeta styled similar to the bride's gown with elbow length mitts of matching material. She wore a picture hat of yellow marquisette with long flowing streamers. Her bouquet was a cascade effect of blue delphinium, yellow and white carnations. Miss Lucille Dentler, Chambersburg, cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor, and wore the same styled gown in lime green with matching mitts and hat. Her bouquet was also a cascade arrangement of pink, white, and yellow carnations.

Four Bridesmaids

Philip Tyson's Print Wins Judges' Votes

A photograph shown by Philip Tyson at the June meeting of the Gettysburg Photographic society Friday evening was voted best by the eight members and two guests in attendance. Prints shown by Edward Stine and Paul A. Kinsey tied for second place in the voting. All were on the assigned subject of flowers.

A discussion of the prints was led by Dr. C. A. Sloat. The society will meet next in September. Friday's meeting was held at the home of Mr. Tyson in Aspers.

Beautiful Highways But No Place To Park

Princeton, N. J., June 18 (AP)—We have a beautiful highway system in America, but no place to park when we get where we're going. That's the analysis of Prof. Philip Kissam, member of the Department of Civil Engineering at Princeton university.

Kissam spoke yesterday to some 50 leading New Jersey corporation executives who met at Princeton to discuss water supply and parking problems.

Kissam said state highway commissions are organized to build highways between towns. The result, he said, is that "we have a beautiful highway system and no terminal facilities." He said this situation exists practically everywhere in the United States.

"Recent traffic surveys have shown that the greatest number of vehicle miles are extended not on the great highway system but within a few miles of the center of each town," Kissam said.

To remedy the snarl, Kissam urged "free ways"—roads on which a car can travel about 50 miles an hour with additional lanes so motorists can slow down and move off the roads.

79th Division At Gap For Training

Indiantown Gap, Pa., June 18 (AP)—Fifteen hundred troops of the 79th Infantry Division took over this huge military reservation today for two weeks of intensive field training.

The division is composed mainly of units in Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Reading and the 428th Infantry Regiment, Washington, D. C.

Refresher courses in tactics and small arms and heavy weapons fire will be the order of the day for the khaki-clad organized reserves.

Major Gen. Robert W. Wilson, Philadelphia, is commanding general of the division, with Brig. Gen. A. H. Stackpole, Harrisburg, assistant commander, and Brig. Gen. J. Calvin Frank, Harrisburg, Division Artillery commander.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Leo J. Krichen, pastor of the church. Attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John Chrismer, Emmitsburg.

4 UNION MEN HURT IN MELEE

Fairmount City, Ill., June 18 (AP)—Two union men were shot and two members of a rival union were beaten in a melee that broke out last night among a crowd of striking American Zinc company employees.

The men who were shot were Joe Petroki, former financial secretary of Local 82, CIO Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union, which called a strike at the company's plant here last August, and Colmaro Rodriguez, a member of the local's strike committee. Both were taken to an East St. Louis hospital for treatment.

Roughed up by a crowd of about 300 which included wives of the strikers, were Angelo and Joe Verdu, brothers, who led a revolt of mid-western locals in June, 1947, from the Smelter Workers' union.

The Verdu led the CIO Progressive Metal Workers council, which last Tuesday lost a National Labor Relations Board election to the Smelter Workers union by 34 votes.

Joe Verdu and Eddi Martinez were arrested and booked suspected of carrying concealed weapons.

Also arrested by Illinois State police in connection with the shooting was Palmer Ryan, 33, who police said admitted firing two shots in front of the city hall where the trouble took place.

The Rev. Earl N. Rowe, who served the Methodist charge here for some years and was later transferred to an Altoona church, is now minister at Trinity Methodist church, Harrisburg, in which city he and his family will make their home. The transfer of the Rev. Mr. Rowe was made at the recent conference of the Methodist church.

The Rev. Donald G. Roemer, pastor of the local Church of God, with Mrs. Roemer, recently entertained the Rev. and Mrs. Marcel Desgaller, Carlisle. The Rev. Mr. Desgaller, who is a French-Canadian, has been heard in special services at the Rev. Mr. Roemer's church. The Rev. and Mrs. Roemer are now attending the International camp meeting of their denomination, taking place at Anderson, Ind.

Plans Long Trip With Wheelbarrow

Jacksonville, Fla., June 18 (AP)—Mrs. Julia Roka St. Clair and her seven-year-old son, Adolphus, leave for Detroit Tuesday by wheelbarrow.

Adolphus will ride. His 48-year-old mother will push.

Mrs. St. Clair says she was Miss Hungary of Europe in 1918 and a former actress. She added:

"I'm really very active for my advanced age."

The purpose of the trip—870 miles as the crow flies, farther as the barrow rolls—is for Adolphus to see his 82-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Eva Roka. They also want to attend a family reunion.

RESIGN POSITION

Arthur Smith, of near Philadelphia, a graduate of Gettysburg college last year, resigned Thursday as a teacher in the seventh and eighth grades at Carlisle. Smith, who was a member of the Carlisle football coaching staff, will enter California State Teachers' college to study for his master's degree.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Sterner, Gettysburg R. 2, announce the birth of a son at the Warner hospital Friday evening.

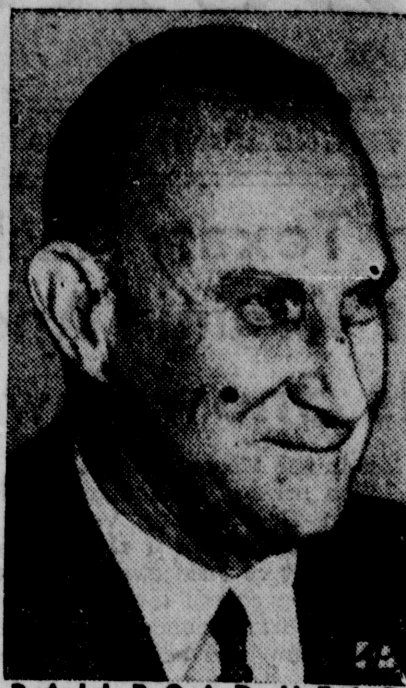

While the chief function of the Adams County Free library continues to be the operation of a free book service for everyone in Adams county, there are times when Miss Anna Farran, the librarian, and her staff are called upon to operate a general information service.

Recently the librarians have been asked for facts on marriage laws, atomic energy, a travel guide on Mexico, child psychology, tree surgery and how to tie the ties for trout fishing.

And the staff digs up the answers for most of the widely varied queries.

Not long ago a couple from New York came to Gettysburg to be married only to discover the three-day waiting period. They turned to the library to learn what was the nearest state they could reach for a quick ceremony.

One demand for extensive information on atomic energy had to be passed along to scientific authorities but when someone called the library to know Adams county's official flower and colors, he was given the correct answer—that there never has been a county flower or and Mrs. Harry Underwood, Jr., Tully, New York, sorority sister of the bride. All of the gowns corresponded with the bride's, with Miss Gaines and Miss Miller wearing pale aqua and Mrs. Peck and Mrs. Underwood wearing orchid with matching accessories. The bridesmaids carried fan-like bouquets of yellow carnations, blue delphinium and orchid larkspur. All of the attendants' gowns, mitts, and hats were made by the bride's mother.

Miss Gail Miller, Wellsville, N. Y., niece of the groom was flower girl and wore a white frosted marquisette with ruffled bertha and full skirt, long mitts and wore a headdress of spring flowers. She carried a white basket of spring flowers.

William Bush, Claremont, N. H., fraternity brother of the groom, served as best man. The ushers were Joseph Canale, Westfield, N. Y., Arnold Gabriel, Cortland, N. Y., fraternity brothers of the groom, Ralph Peck, Hanover, Harry Underwood, Jr., Tully, New York, and Lee Nicols, Chambersburg.

Reception Is Held

Earl Miller, Jr., Wellsville, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer and wore a navy blue suit with bow tie. He carried a white satin pillow adorned with two miniature calla lilies which held the rings in the center.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua crepe and lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses with white stephanotis. Mrs. Earl Miller, sister of the groom, wore a white and green crepe dress with a corsage of yellow roses and stephanotis.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was decorated with a three tier wedding cake with a miniature bride and groom under a wedding bell. Mrs. Ralph Hess, Chambersburg, Miss Marian Menchey, Miss Gloria Ecker, Miss Violet Swartz, all of Gettysburg, and Mrs. Clark Bietsch, Chambersburg, served at the reception. Guests included friends and relatives from Williamsport, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Long Island, Homer, New York, Claremont, N. H., Westfield, New York, Cortland New York, and Wellsville, New York.

The bride is a graduate of Gettysburg high school in 1944 and Rider College in 1947. She has been employed as laboratory technician in the offices of Dr. William A. Bender, and Dr. John A. Leam, Chambersburg. Mr. Chalker graduated from Wellsville high school, Wellsville, N. Y., and from Ithaca College on June 4. He has accepted a position as instrumental and choir director of the Richburg Central school, Richburg, N. Y. He was a cadet at Gettysburg College in 1943 and spent three years in the Air Corps as a lieutenant bombardier.

The couple will reside in New York state following their honeymoon of a trip through the western states.

The bride's going away outfit was an aqua linen suit with cocoa brown accessories and a white orchid.

Man's Crushed Body Is Found By Tracks

Columbia, Pa., June 18 (AP)—The mangled body of a man was found today beside the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near this Pennsylvania Lancaster county town.

Sgt. Joseph Duersmith of the railroad police said he could not determine immediately the circumstances of the man's death. The body was discovered by a train crew passing the spot at 4:40 a. m. (EST).

Cards and papers in the victim's clothing, some of them issued by the Veterans' Administration, bore the name Theodore Joseph Pillate, 8 East 3rd St., New York city, Deputy Coroner J. P. Taylor reported. He said he had asked New York police aid in establishing identity of the victim, who appeared to be about 35 years old.

Says Mine Safety Is State Problem

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The Federal government should leave coal mine safety up to the states, says Richard Maize, Pennsylvania secretary of mines.

Maize told a House labor subcommittee yesterday he objects to giving Federal coal mine inspectors police powers to enforce compliance with Federal safety codes.

He called the Federal inspection laws the "brain child of John L. Lewis (United Mine Workers chief)."

"So if Federal inspectors were given police powers, can you visualize them prosecuting a mine or group of miners for violation of the Federal code when they owe their very existence as Federal inspectors to Mr. Lewis?" Maize asked.

PLAN BUS TRIP

Thirty members of the Maude Miller Bible class of St. James Lutheran church are scheduled to visit the Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania at Wellsville and the glass establishment at Corning, N. Y., on Tuesday. The group will leave by bus from in front of the YWCA at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning for the trip and will return late that night.

PHILS SHUTOUT CARDS TO NEAR TOP POSITION

By JOE REICHLER
(AP) Sports Writer

It's about time somebody started paying attention to those "Fighting Phils" from Philadelphia.

While they're at it, they could also give the double-o to the Phils' young bonus pitcher, 22-year-old Robin Roberts.

A chronic second division club since 1932, the Phils weren't given a tumble in pre-season polls. Only the most optimistic favored them with a first division berth.

Now here it is the middle of June, and Eddie Sawyer's scrappy bunch are in the thick of the pennant fight—two games from the top. And judging by the way the Phils have been knocking off all opposition of late, it would come as no surprise if they took the league leadership from Brooklyn before the month is out. They've won 15 of their last 19 games.

The Phils achieved their most noteworthy feat of the year last night, cooling Harry Brecheen and the St. Louis Cards, 8-0. Roberts gave a brilliant pitching performance.

Sixth Straight

The victory extended Philadelphia's winning streak to six straight games and moved them into a virtual tie with the Cards for second place. The Cards have an 805 percentage point advantage because they've played four less games than the Phils.

The Dodgers snapped a two-game losing slump, winning a tough 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

Cincinnati dumped the Boston Braves into fourth place, knocking off Billy Southworth's crew, 7-2. Howie Fox aided by Walker Cooper's first inning home run with two aboard, won his fourth game. Johnny Sain suffered his seventh defeat.

Shelling Clint Hartung from the hill with a four-run barrage in the first inning, the Pittsburgh Pirates went on to defeat the New York Giants, 6-4, in a night game in Pittsburgh.

The upsurging Cleveland Indians whipped the New York Yankees, 10-4, at the Yankee Stadium to extend their winning streak to six games. The tribe, definitely on the move, now is four games over the 500 mark and only five and a half games from the top.

Sos, A's Triumph

The Boston Red Sox won both ends of an afternoon-night double-header from the Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 10-8. Joe Dobson survived a three-run first inning to win his fifth game in the opener.

The Philadelphia Athletics moved within half a game of the second place, Detroit Tigers, defeating the St. Louis Browns, 8-5. Joe Coleman weathered two bad innings to go the route and register his sixth victory.

The scheduled night game between Detroit and the Senators in Washington was postponed due to rain.

Three Navy Players On All-Star Eleven

New York, June 18 (AP)—Three Navy football players from the team which held Army to a surprising 12-21 tie last fall were selected today for the Eastern all-star squad scheduled to meet the New York Giants in a charity game here September 1.

They are halfback Pete Williams, tackle Scott Emerson and center Randlett (Tex) Lawrence. Their selection brings to 17 the number of players picked for the collegiate squad that will report to head coach Herman Hickman of Yale at Bear Mountain, N. Y., August 14 for training.

Yesterday Stars

(By The Associated Press)
Batting — Ken Keltner, Indians, clouted two home runs and drove in four runs to lead the surging Indians to a 10-4 triumph over the pace-setting New York Yankees. Pitching—Robin Roberts, Phils, blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-0, on five hits to post his eighth win and fourth of the season over the Cards.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, June 18 (AP) — When Patty Berg won the Women's Western open golf title last year, she presented her $500 winning check to the association for the promotion of golf among younger girls. That's one reason why the Women's Western Junior championship will be held this year for the first time since 1941. The U. S. Golf association replies only "no comment" to queries about Bud Ward's amateur status. Story is that its under investigation because of a report that he has applied for a professional job. Tickets for the Notre Dame-Michigan State football game November 5 were sold out eight days after they were put on sale June 1. Now that Jake Lamotta has won the middleweight title, how about a title scrap with Rocky Graziano—with Lee Oma as referee?

MISPLACED SYMPATHY
Ernie Lanigan, the baseball historian, tells one about the time the old Pennsylvania league broke up. The teams were broke and the players couldn't collect their pay. One team finally found a sympathizer in a local bartender, who couldn't feed them or pay cartage home but did invite all the players to have one beer on the house. The athletes gladly accepted. "It is all but one who plaintively asked: 'If you don't mind, could I have five two-cent stamps instead?'" Ernie has it figured out this was the only smart one of the bunch. With the stamps and hotel stationery, he could apply for five jobs.

SPORTSMENTION
Fred Hooper is reported to be buying Hoop, Jr. yearlings every time he gets a chance. That might be a tip on something. Roland "Kickapoo" Logan, former Red Sox West Point, etc. trainer has cooked up what he calls a "new type" of school for coaches, teaching them how to cut down on injuries. It will be held at Pepperdine college in August. Harry Heilmann, the broadcaster, tells Detroit fans to keep their eyes on Johnny Groth in August and September. By that time, says Harry, he will have seen all the American league pitching and will know how to hit it.

3 DRIVERS INJURED
Louisville, Ky., June 17 (AP)—Three drivers were injured, one of them seriously, in a spectacular three-horse spill on the opening program of Louisville's new trotting track tonight.
Owner-driver Virgil Altizer, Rushville, Ill., was reported in serious condition with a possible skull fracture, Roy Blackburn, Vincennes, Ind., suffered fractures of the leg and hand respectively.

The accident occurred in the fourth race at Fairgrounds Speedway. McGinnis said his horse, Har-Lo-Me, was running nicely around the first turn when he appeared to slip and fell. Altizer, driving Easter Lad, and Blackburn, driving Margaret Mitchell, were too close up to avoid running into him.

Altizer struck the track heavily and was unconscious several minutes. All were taken to a hospital. Margaret Mitchell suffered minor cuts and the other horses escaped unscathed.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)
The second place Trenton Giants gained a full game on the league leading Wilmington Blue Rocks by defeating Allentown, 9 to 2, last (Friday) night in the Interstate league. Lancaster's Red Roses clipped Wilmington, 6 to 4. Sunbury at Hagerstown and Harrisburg at York were rained out.

Don Robertson, Trenton right-hander, held Allentown to five hits for his eighth victory. Three of the hits came in the first inning and produced all of the Redbird runs. The victory placed Trenton within 4½ games of Wilmington. Third baseman Ray Rabin clouted his tenth homer of the season with one on in the second for Trenton.

Ted Schmidt committed one of the two errors in the fifth inning which gave Lancaster its two run margin over Wilmington. First baseman Johnny Davenport homered with one aboard in the third to account for half of Wilmington's runs.

MORE TESTS ON WAITKUS TODAY

Chicago, June 18 (AP)—Physicians attending Eddie Waitkus, the wounded Philadelphia Phillies first baseman, planned further tests today to determine when it would be advisable to attempt to remove a .22 caliber rifle bullet lodged near his spine.

Waitkus, shot by a 19-year-old typist in her hotel room early Wednesday, underwent a successful minor operation yesterday to remove an accumulation of blood from his right lung. He was in an operating room at the Illinois Masonic hospital about 30 minutes. The hospital later said he was showing "marked improvement."

The bullet which Ruth Ann Steinhagen fired at the 28-year-old ball player lacerated the right lung and caused internal bleeding. Physicians planned to take further X-rays today.

Waitkus, who probably will be unable to play with the Phillies for the rest of the season, laughed and joked with reporters yesterday as he gave his first story of the shooting at the Edgewater Beach hotel. He had gone to Miss Steinhagen's room in answer to her pleas that she had "something important" to tell him. Waitkus, who is single, did not know the girl, who idolized the popular Phillies star.

Miss Steinhagen, who is in jail in default of $25,000 cash bail, will be given a hearing on a charge of assault with intent to murder on June 30. She is to be given a mental examination before her court arraignment.

JERSEY JOE IS READY FOR BOUT

Kankakee, Ill., June 18 (AP)—At an age when most fellows get winded just running for a street car, Jersey Joe Walcott has run 300 miles.

This road work, plus 131 rounds against sparring mates, has left him as solid as a bull and as fire-breathing eager as one preparing to toss a matador.

Jersey Joe, age 35-40, is a trim 196 pounder and confident he will chill 27-year-old Ezzard Charles and win the N.B.A.-version of the world heavyweight boxing championship.

They tangle in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, Wednesday night. Advance sales thus far are reliably reported over $100,000. This is a far cry from the gate of $715,470 paid by 45,500 fans at the same site 12 years ago to watch Joe Louis capture the crown from James J. Braddock.

The speedy Charles, who gained most of his fame as a light heavy, is expected to enter the ring at 185. In preliminary examinations yesterday, he topped 186½. The hard-hitting Cincinnati negro currently rules a 7-5 favorite. But Walcott is the sentimental favorite.

CONTROL OF SQUASH VINE BORERS

In many gardening communities, judging by letters of inquiry from our readers, the vine borer is by far the most serious insect enemy of squashes. It is particularly severe in late or winter-type squashes, burrowing into the fleshy stems and causing young vines to wilt suddenly and die. Inasmuch as the borer begins actively in late June and early July, control measures should be known fully at this time.

This borer is a whitish worm or larva about one inch in length when fully grown. It is distinguished by a dark brown head. It hatches from a small egg deposited in late June or the first few days of July on the leaf stem or under side of a squash leaf by a small moth. In many cases the female moth may continue to deposit her eggs for three or four weeks. The tiny grub burrows into the main stem near the base, feeding outward toward the tip. When fully developed, usually after four to six weeks of feeding, the larva (or borer) gnaws its way out, drops to the ground and builds a cocoon about itself just below the ground surface. In this condition it lives over winter, pupates in late spring and turns into an egg-laying moth again in June.

This life history should be studied by every gardener because it holds the major keys to squash vine borer control. First, it indicates that the egg-laying moth cannot know anything about property line fences, therefore, neighbors should cooperate in an effective campaign of extermination. Next, stirring soils in late fall to expose the dormant overwintering larva will prevent survival and thereby reduce the number of next year's moths. And of course, direct combat is necessarily important.

For many years commercial squash growers have pursued a program of spraying their plants every week to 10 days from late June until late July, using Bacta Leaf 40 in soapy water at the rate of 1 to 1½ teaspoonsful to a gallon of water in which a 1-inch cube of laundry soap or 2 tablespoonsful of soap flakes has been dissolved. The spray is directed so the under sides of the basal leaves are uniformly coated and the older portions of the stems receive a heavy portion of the spray.

Perhaps the most effective method of combat in the home garden where but a few hills of late squash are grown is to cut the borer out as soon as they are discovered. This requires daily inspection of the vine bases for evidences of the telltale borer entrance—cuttings just outside a small opening into the fleshy vine stem. Then carefully slit the vine on one side with a razor blade, beginning at the borer's entrance opening. Usually the culprit is found within an inch of that opening. It can be killed within the vine or removed and killed. It is advisable to heap soil over the wounded portion of the vine to induce the formation of additional roots beyond the point of operation.

Another wise precaution is to plant a few extra hills of winter Hubbard squashes near the regular planting, preferably a few days before the regular crop is planted. These extra plants are intended

MAY PASS UP MILK RAISE

Harrisburg, June 18 (AP)—The state Milk Control Commission indicated today the retail milk prices in eastern Pennsylvania will remain at their present levels until October 1. The commission meanwhile has called price conferences here June 21 for producers and dealers from seven marketing areas. The purpose is to consider tentative orders modifying present regulations that would boost retail prices automatically a cent a quart retail on July 1.

"I don't think there is any doubt but what present prices will be continued without an increase," a commission spokesman commented. He added: "There was virtually no testimony asking that we allow prices to go up automatically."

Under the commission's present seasonal pricing system, prices go down a cent a quart on January 1 and April 1 and up a cent on July 1 and October 1. Producer prices also change automatically at the same time.

This automatic increase can only be suspended by the commission by a new order and the law requires conferences with producer, dealer and consumer representatives before any final order is issued.

The seven eastern areas where milk is scheduled to be boosted a penny a quart July 1 unless the commission intervenes with new orders, include Philadelphia, Philadelphia suburban, Lehigh, Reading, York, Lancaster and Harrisburg.

As often stressed here, potato crops, both total yield and tuber quality, are determined by the number and vigor of leaves developed and kept thriving on the plants until the tubers are matured and the tops die back naturally. Herein is seen the importance of preventing tipburn and hopperburn ravages.

In most cases the regular 10-day applications of Bordeaux mixture recommended to prevent blights and other fungous diseases of potatoes will repel leafhoppers by the copper residue on the foliage. But where these pests persist despite the Bordeaux mixture, they should be killed off at once with a special application of pyrethrum-sulphur dust.

This is easily prepared at home by mixing 1 ounce (5 level tablespoons) of fresh pyrethrum powder (containing 1.3 percent pyrethrins) with 1½ pounds of superfine dusting sulphur. Apply so the potato foliage is uniformly coated. Repeat the application as often as necessary to keep leafhoppers killed off.

Hopperburn may occur when rainfall is adequate and the temperature not excessively high, although both dry weather and long hot periods aggravate the disease. Primarily hopperburn results from feeding by leafhoppers. This insect sucks sap from the midrib and other main leaf veins, thereby causing a lack of tissue moisture not unlike the condition resulting from dry, hot weather as found in tipburn. But apparently all the browning and killing effects in hopperburn do not follow solely from the insect's feeding. Observation and research in-

Today's Talk

OUTWEAR THE ACCIDENTS

Life is precarious at its best. It is strewn with accidents—most of them unexpected. We have neither eyesight nor soul-sight into the morrow. But this we can do—and in good heart—we can take these accidents as they occur—and outwear them! Like the cut or scratch on any part of your body, accidents heal.

I do not refer here, however, to the accidents of the body, or physical accidents, but to those accidents of the mind, the heart, and the soul. The wounding of the spirit, which may take longer to heal than a physical accident. The hurts and accidents of the heart in youth do not heal readily, but a later maturity in intelligence can outwear them, and in a measure recover one's lost happiness.

The love of God in one's heart can bring beauty and peace, where once wreckage played its tragic role. It is said that time heals all sorrows, but it isn't so much time as it is the maturing of the spirit within one. As sorrow and misfortune recede, the soul is given a new glow of light, through faith and understanding.

Most people do not intend to hurt another. It is an accident of thought. Nothing is so important in this connection, as the education of the heart. Happiness is largely a matter of education. It's the ignorant who cause trouble. And only God, in His mercy, can take care of such as they.

It is difficult either to give or to forget deliberate wrongs, but even in such cases, the cause is usually one of accident (of birth or training). It was Christ upon the cross who exclaimed: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

Worrying about something that has already happened will do no good. Neither will brooding over it. We must pass on. If people learned to outwear their mistakes, their failures, and their misgivings, there would be far less for the psychiatrists to work on.

So much of the unhappiness in life is the result of hanging on to the unfortunate memories of the past. Little accidents of time ad place. But there is a remedy—outwear them with a forward resolve and a brave spirit!

DAY OFF FOR FISHING

When a fellow goes fishing he's done with his care.

Life's small irritations can't follow him there.

No phone calls to answer! No "hurry up" cry

That someone it wanting what he must supply.

When a fellow goes fishing his mind is at ease.

For a brush and a comb he just uses the breeze.

He is free from the customs of life which enslave.

He can go far the day without having to shave.

When a fellow goes fishing his rivals are fair.

The joys of the stream all are willing to share.

And when dinner is ready there's no one to note

At the table that he's without necktie or coat.

BRITAIN STANDS FAST ON PACT WITH ARGENTINE

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Britain was reported standing fast today on its proposed trade agreement with Argentina, despite strong objections from the United States.

Senator Cordon (R-Ore.), describing the agreement as "an ominous threat" to world recovery, said the Senate Appropriations committee will call on Undersecretary of State James E. Webb for a full report on the American position.

Under the pact, Britain and Argentina would exchange goods and commodities for a five-year period. Officials here are fearful this would give Britain a stranglehold on the Argentine food market. In addition, they argue, it is the type of trade agreement which could hurt Europe's recovery.

Cordon told a reporter the freedom in world trade desired by this country never will come about if the world faces barriers thrown up by a government "which feels it must protect itself in some particular field."

John Taylor, commercial minister of the British embassy, was reported to have insisted during a State Department visit yesterday that the Argentine agreement—due to be signed Tuesday—is essential to British recovery.

That statement, delivered to Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorp, was taken as a tentative rejection of American protests.

Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul Hoffman bitterly denounced the pact yesterday while defending the ECA's recovery spending. ECA is asking $3,568,470,000 for next year—with permission to spend the money in 10½ months if necessary.

An Embarrassing Point

Hoffman told Senators ECA will use "every pressure" possible against the Britain-Argentina type of trade pact. Two days ago he said such trade barriers must be wiped out if European recovery is to be considered a good risk in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1951.

Cordon brought up the British-Argentine pact while Hoffman was trying to justify his request for foreign aid funds.

Britain has been under especially heavy fire in the Senate study of the ECA program. And the Argentine agreement is proving an embarrassing point in ECA's arguments.

Littlestown

Littlestown—The carnival sponsored by the Littlestown Fish and Game association on the Littlestown playground was rained out for the second consecutive night on Friday night. Everything is in readiness for their program tonight. Entertainment will be furnished by the Littlestown high school band. The original plan had been to close the carnival tonight, but because of the two nights of rain, it was decided to continue the carnival on Monday night. An evening of entertainment is in store for all who attend.

Miss Ethel Kindig, teacher in the public schools of Conestoga, is spending a short vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kindig, East King street, before leaving for the University of Pennsylvania, where she will take a summer course in preparation for her master's degree.

There will be a planning conference of the Youth Council of the third district of the Adams County Council of Christian Education on Wednesday, June 29, at 8 p. m. in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown. In attendance at this conference will be the Rev. Dr. Norman S. Wolf, Fairfield, Young People's superintendent of the Adams County Youth Council and other officers of the County Youth Council. All pastors, Sunday school superintendents, young people's superintendents, officers of the Youth organizations of the third district as well as any other interested people, are urged to attend this conference. Officers will not be elected at this time. The purpose of this conference is to enlist support and arouse interest in the work of the Youth Council. H. Dean Stover, Littlestown, is superintendent of the Young People's work of the third district.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10:30 o'clock in the J. W. Little and son, funeral home, Littlestown, for Mrs. Mildred C. Parr, 39, wife of Nevin Parr, Hanover, R. 3, and formerly of White Hall, who died Wednesday at 4 a. m. in the Hanover hospital. Her pastor, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Serving as pallbearers were Melvin Sank, Harry Raubenstein, Ralph Musselman, Stewart Schidt, Parr Breighner and Edward Newman.

Like their engines the worse off some owners are the more knocking they do.

Year's Best Story

One of my editors has been good enough to present a detailed report on a trouble that has been worrying a good many motorists of late. It is the old story of the engine stalling a lot on damp mornings, then stalling on dry or damp mornings, and finally stalling at any time. He spent $46.00 solving this one, trying the idea of wiping off the exposed ignition parts, replacing the carburetor, adding a special gasoline filter and rehabilitating the ignition system from coil to rotor. Here's what he found:

The fuel pump diaphragm leaked. And here's the pay-off: the new pump did the same thing. Three replacements were required before he got a pump that worked properly. It goes to demonstrate that in trying to cure car ailments you not merely have to get off the beaten track but be persistent in your search. It's a very significant story, in my opinion. Few reports in my long career of trying to help motorists have equalled it in downright common sense.

Encouraging Returns

It is encouraging to receive reports to the effect that my suggestion for checking fan belt squealing is proving useful. Several readers have recently reported roughing up the edges of belt and that this really does the trick. I have been plugging away at this for some time and am glad to receive these favorable reports. Putting soap or graphite on the belt edges may help temporarily but they are not the answer. The roughing job should be done when the engine is stopped, of course, and not with a sharp tool.

On The Wrong Track

When a friend of mine found his car steering in an erratic manner, darting and diving over the road, he proceeded to readjust the steering gear. Naturally he had no success for the gear itself has nothing to do with this condition. Instead he should have been checking the shock absorbers, front wheel alignment, the tie-rods and drag link connections and the Pitman arm. He was doing a good job of adjusting the gear, but it just goes to show that even a fellow who knows a thing or two about mechanical matters can go wrong with modern cars. Really, it is always work for an expert.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"One of my neighbors came in the other day with the complaint that after making a quick stop the engine usually stalled. He found this a bit on the dangerous side because often after slowing down rapidly it is found that the situation calls for stepping on the gas to get going again. I went after the usual causes of this stalling—too slow idling, incorrect float level and too volatile gas. But finding nothing wrong in these departments I tried a little trick of drilling a fine hole in the idling side of the butterfly throttle valve. That checked stalling. It was done by breaking the high vacuum created in the intake system during sudden throttle closing."

Gasket Is Important

Sometimes when the fuel filter bowl is removed for emptying its gasket will drop out and offer a variety of difficulties, if not noticed. Without a gasket the bowl will overflow and interfere with the fuel supply. Best policy is to use a new gasket every time the bowl is removed for cleaning, for an old gasket replaced in a new position will usually cause a leak. The bowl must fit tightly all around the gasket. Incidentally, if you have to empty the bowl, and do not have a new gasket handy, a temporary makeshift is to grease both sides of the old gasket before replacing it.

Are you one of my many readers who have recently taken delivery of a new car? If so, take my advice and try to forget the old one. Some of those memories can trap you into doing a very poor job on the new possession.

The engine of the new car, for instance, won't thank you for poky driving. Follow the instructions in the owner's manual and give the engine the benefit of the sort of up and down driving that will "bed down" the bearings. Remember that the new car won't need that force which you may have had to use to get proper braking with the old job.

Give the new job the benefit of more delicate touches. Watch your speed.

Keep These In Mind

That mysterious noise under the hood may be nothing more serious than a loose generator or perhaps just a bent brush holder.

Longer service from hydraulic brake cylinders and better braking is being had through use of steel liners for brake cylinders. They resist corrosion and insure against leakage and shifting.

Because of greater sound-proofing in cars many drivers do not hear the engine "ping." It accounts for much current overheating and cracked pistons.

Means Watered Oil

When there's definite evidence of water in the crankcase and no leakage of the cylinder head gasket is found the smart owner will start checking for water leakage at some other point. On one car water escaped around one of the engine block cover plugs and ran down into the crankcase via the distributor shaft housing. Water can get into the oil by running down the engine from a leaky hose connection and finding its way into the valve compartment around a loose cover plate. It can also get into the crankcase through a cracked cylinder.

Temptation To Tinker

Because there is no adjustment for the high speed mixture on the modern carburetor there isn't the same opportunity for tinkering with this important unit of the car, but the situation does tempt some people to take out jets and enlarge them. This is comparable to telling the factory engineers they did not know their business.

Let's avoid this. There are legitimate cases where jet sizes should be changed, but I have received enough letters recently to suggest the wisdom of not sanctioning promiscuous jet enlargement.

Answering Their Queries

Q. Can I take spark plugs right out of the box and install in the motor, or must they be adjusted in any way? K. McB.

A. Yes, their points need to be set at the proper gap. They will be near this as a rule, but that isn't enough for today's high efficiency. Be sure to use the new gasket with each plug.

Q. What would cause the engine to be sluggish? I recently had the valves ground and a new muffler installed. Didn't notice this action before. Wm. L. D.

A. Suspicion points to either the ignition timing or the muffler. The timing may be late, and the muffler may be the wrong type for the motor. Check these in the order I have given.

Q. Can valves have late action even though the valve timing of the engine is correct? R. K. B.

A. Weak valve springs will have this effect, so will too much tappet clearance.

Q. The front wheels of my car wobble and there is definitely a lot of play in them. A mechanic tells me that I need a whole new front-end job. Do you agree? B. B. D.

A. It looks that way. However, check the wheels as they may be merely loose on the spindles. Check the wheel bearings, too.

Q. I've had several cars with engines that idled too slowly but this is the first time I've been troubled with too fast idling. Have you any idea what could cause this? J. F. Jr.

A. That's easy. You may have cranked the throttle valve by rough treatment of the carburetor. The throttle return spring may be weak. The throttle valve may stick, or there may be binding in the throttle control rods.

Q. What is the best way to tell when the oil filter cartridge needs replacing? J. J. N.

A. The color of the oil as you read it on the dipstick is about your best guide. Most cartridges will be serviceable for several thousand miles, but this will depend on the age of the engine and its general condition. The grade of oil, its quality and the efficiency of the air filter are other factors.

Q. Is there any advantage in using premium fuel if the engine doesn't knock on regular gas? H.H.T.

A. In spite of all you may have read by the misinformed, yes. In the first place an engine that doesn't knock at all on regular gas either is way low on compression or timed late, or both. Even in this subnormal condition the engine will develop more power on premium anti-knock gas upon acceleration or when heated up and placed under heavy load.

Held For Blinding Vet With Tear Gas

Philadelphia, June 18 (AP)—Peter M. Thurwanger, a Philadelphia taproom owner, is held in $1,000 bail on a charge he released tear gas into the face of Bedford Jones, a 31-year-old war veteran, blinding him in the left eye.

A warrant sworn out for the taproom proprietor said the gas destroyed the cornea in Jones' left eye. The alleged attack occurred on

FOUR KILLED IN AIR CRASH NEAR N. CUMBERLAND

New Cumberland, Pa., June 18 (AP)—An air force training plane crashed into Cumberland mountain early today killing all four occupants of the craft.

Lieut. Arthur Lloyd, public relations officer at the nearby Middletown Air Force base, said the victims were reserve officers from the Cleveland area.

He withheld identity of the men until their next of kin are notified. Lloyd said the craft, a twin-engine, five passenger T-11, crashed, burned and exploded about 150 yards from the summit of the tree-covered 1,000-foot mountain two miles southwest of here.

The area was shrouded in a heavy mist at the time of the crash and Lloyd said he believed the plane was attempting to land at the Middletown Air Force field.

Tree tops were sheared off in a 50-foot strip at the crash scene. Lloyd said the pilot apparently did not see the mountain because of the low ceiling.

The bodies, all badly burned, were removed from the wreckage and taken to the Middletown base.

Lloyd said the plane took off from Cleveland and was flying a west-east course.

Court Orders End To Truck Picketing

Harrisburg, June 18 (AP)—A Harrisburg union had orders today from the Dauphin county court to cease picketing two trucking firms here.

The court issued an injunction against Local 776, Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Helpers Union-Aff. The order was granted at the request of George Weaver, Inc., and the Central Storage and Transfer company.

The court ruled that the picketing is "clearly intended and calculated to coerce the plaintiff into a violation of the law by requiring it to force its employees, none of whom are members of any labor organization and with whom it has no labor dispute, to join the defendant union."

It added further that the picketing by the union "although peaceful, is unlawful in that the defendants are engaged in a course of conduct causing the plaintiff irreparable injury."

The two companies contended in their suit that the picketing was illegal under a recent State Supreme court decision. Sidney Handler, counsel for the union, told the court the picketing was designed merely to appeal to employees of the two companies to join the union.

East Berlin

East Berlin—This afternoon and evening there is a public picnic in progress at the Adams County Fair Grounds, formerly Farmers Grove, between here and Abbottstown, sponsored by the local Fish and Game association, with a shooting match in the afternoon. Music for the evening will be furnished by the Buckboard Ramblers.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Zeigler are marking their 15th wedding anniversary. The couple was married in Westminster, Md., and the bride was Miss Romaine Hoffman, Farmers. Mr. Zeigler is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Zeigler.

The couple have one son, Gary, a student at the local high school.

Road engineers have been at work for more than a week in preparation for the project to widen the roads in the borough, extending them from curb to curb.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chubb, Jr., Abbottstown, marked the fifth anniversary of their marriage on June 14. Mr. Chubb's sister, Miss Gladys N. Chubb, will be married shortly to Paul Fahs, son of Mrs. Mabel Fahs, a veteran of the army air corps during World War II.

A group, two sisters and two brothers, who formed a double wedding party at Holtzschwamm church near here, recently observed their tenth wedding anniversary. They are Mr. and Mrs. Norman Himes and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Himes, who were married by the Rev. J. Elmer Leas, then Lutheran pastor of the Holtzschwamm Union church. The brides were formerly the Misses Violet and Esther Altland, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Altland, Paradise township.

A strawberry festival will be held this evening on the grounds of Paradise Catholic church for the benefit of this church. The old church building, erected 106 years ago, has been out of use for several years, due to the necessity for numerous repairs, but is expected to be opened before long. Work on the renovation is progressing steadily while services for the congregation continue to take place at the chapel of Paradise Rectory, in charge of the Rev. Chester T. Loszewski, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory W. Sell, Jr.,

and children, Richard, Lucy and Kandy, have moved from the Reformed parsonage property to the former Orville Zeigler property which they bought several months ago from Harry B. Nell. The tenants of the Nell property, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hoke and sons Robert and Philip, have occupied the George W. Smith house nearby, formerly the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hankey. The Hankey couple, and children Catherine and Ronald, have taken possession of their newly-built house near Farmers Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Sell are preparing to enlarge their "Record Bar" business which they have conducted for several months as a sideline.

Miss Marian Louise Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Phillips, who has been spending a vacation at her home after completing final examinations at Temple University, Philadelphia, returned there this week to be among the class graduated from the university where she studied home economics. Miss Phillips expects to teach next September. She was an honor graduate of the East Berlin high school in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Otto and daughters, Lynda Ann, Carol Jean and Cathy Jo, have returned after spending several days with relatives in Rochester, N. Y., where they formerly resided.

Mrs. William R. Calaway, formerly of here, has returned to her home in Paoli after spending several weeks at the Columbia hospital for treatment of the severe injuries she sustained in the auto crash near Wrightsville, May 5, in which her husband lost his life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gembe and children, Donna Mae and Sonny, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Mummert and children, Joanne and Reginald, West York, made up a fishing party and picnic at Brandtsville during the past week.

James Stauffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Stauffer, Hanover, formerly of here, an army veteran who has completed his first year at Lehigh university, returned to his home last week to spend a vacation. His younger brother, Fred, spent the week here as a guest of his grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Daisy Resser and Miss Ethel B. Resser, who have also been entertaining Barbara Eck, daughter of Mrs. Mildred H. Eck, York, formerly of town. Mrs. Glenn A. Weaver and children, Tom and Becky, R. 2, visited during the week in Hanover where they formerly made their home.

Harold E. Cramer, Sr., has been a patient for several days at the Warner hospital for treatment of an injury to his back. His is somewhat improved and expects to return home shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin R. Lau and son, Harold, were visitors during the week in Hanover.

Eight of the ten daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael H. Goehnauer, late of this area, were reunited for the first time in 40 years at a recent gathering at the home of one sister, Mrs. T. C. Kimmel, near Dover. This was in honor of two of the sisters, Mrs. Mabel Zimmerman, San Diego, Calif., who has not been back to Pennsylvania since leaving for a visit in company with her husband, John Goggin, Los Angeles, Calif. The other sisters present were Mrs. Rosa Detter, Mrs. Lizzie Joseph, Mrs. L. W. Cook, Mrs. L. D. Strayer, and Mrs. Curtis L. Brown.

Another sister, Mrs. John A. Krall, left the East Berlin section for Mogtana several years ago to make her home. The eldest, Mrs. Jacob D. Sower, died six years ago, and the only brother, Henry L. Goehnauer, died one year later.

The Californians have been spending much of their time being entertained by friends and relatives, and with their local sisters. All but Mrs. Kimmel, who has not been well, participated in the recent Trimmer-Goehnauer reunion.

George W. Moul and son, Donald R. Moul, with Howard Albright, Raymond L. Hoffman, Jr., and two Hampton friends, have returned from a fishing trip to Delaware where among them they caught nearly 600 fish.

In 1934, average meat consumption by Americans dropped to 117 pounds, compared with 145 pounds in 1948 and 151 in 1900.

MARTIN DENIES TRUMAN CHARGE

Washington, June 18 (AP)—President Truman's statement that real estate lobbyists have launched a "deliberate campaign of misrepresentation" against housing legislation drew a sharp denial today from Rep. Martin (R-Mass.).

The president said late yesterday in a letter to Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas) that he has been "shocked in recent days at the extraordinary propaganda campaign that has been unleashed" against a Senate-passed public housing, slum clearance bill now pending in the house.

The campaign, Mr. Truman declared, "consistently distorts the facts of the housing situation in this country."

Martin, the House Republican leader, told a newsman: "This is a surprise to me. The only lobby that has contacted me is the lobby trying to put over the bill."

Martin declared that opposition to the measure has come from people concerned over government spending—not real estate lobbyists.

The president's strongly-worded letter said that "a little group of ruthless men" is responsible for the campaign to defeat the bill.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—Senators said Friday that Economic Cooperation Administrator Paul Hoffman had won his fight against a heavy cut in European recovery spending. "The push for a big re-

'Dead' Patient Is Making Recovery

Butler, Pa., June 18 (AP)—A 45-year-old patient "who for all intents and purposes had died," is on the road to recovery today, saved by an emergency operation, officials of a Veterans' Administration hospital report. A spokesman for Deshon General hospital told this story:

Clemens Almon, a cook from Philadelphia, was being prepared for a chest operation. He lapsed into unconsciousness as anesthesia was being administered.

The attending surgeon said Almon's heart action stopped "and there was no evidence of respiration."

The surgeon made an emergency incision and began massaging Almon's heart. A pulse beat was detected five minutes later and the patient was placed in an oxygen tent.

Long Branch, N. J., June 18 (AP)—Premature quadruplets—two boys and two girls—all died within 15 minutes of each other Friday morning a little more than 10 hours after they were born.

Their mother was Mrs. Raymond Caffrey of Union Beach, N. J. Monmouth Memorial hospital, where the quadruplets were born, said Mrs. Caffrey had been five months pregnant. She was listed in "good" condition after the births.

Washington, June 18 (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate Thursday a bill creating 24 new Federal judgeships. The new judges would be appointed by President Truman subject to Senate confirmation. They would include one for western Pennsylvania and two for eastern Pennsylvania on a temporary basis.

Chapter 20

Jeff made some coffee, drank two cups, then decided to make one final round before turning in. He went down one side of the street into an alley, intending to circle in that manner to the back of Glenn's place. And then, just as he was about to pass Wolfanger's store, he halted in his tracks. A dim glow lit one of its back windows; so dim that only the intense blackness of the alley permitted him to perceive it.

He bent over and removed his spurs, stuffing them into a pocket, then drew his gun and tiptoed up the back steps. He pushed gently against the door and felt it give before him. He waited a few seconds, listening, then stepped inside.

He saw now that the light was in the store proper, its rays coming through a connecting doorway. Carefully he stepped across the floor to the doorway and looked through it. Against the wall was Hank's big safe and before it knelt the shadowy form of a man. Wrapping paper had been tied about the lantern, permitting only a soft glow by which the fellow could see to work at the combination. Jeff whipped up his gun—and the barrel struck a broom which had been leaning against the door frame. The broom fell with a clatter and Jeff's aim was momentarily disturbed.

Instantly the lantern wick was lowered and the light flickered out. "Stay where you are!" said Jeff sharply, and started forward.

There was a flash and a roar and he felt the slug as it grazed his cheek. He took two long steps forward and dived at the place where he thought the intruder to be. He heard the swift shift of feet, then crashed headlong into the iron safe.

Stunned, all the stars in the firmament dancing before his eyes, he fell to the floor. He was not unconscious, but for a few seconds was powerless to move. A foot struck him as the fellow stumbled over him, but he was too dazed to try to grab it. Then the burglar was through the communicating doorway and pounding down the back steps.

Jeff struggled to his feet and staggered across the back room to the door. From behind the alley came the drum of hoofs which told of the fellow's flight. Jeff's horse was in Glenn's stable, two full blocks away. He shook the dizziness off and went back to the store. Tearing the paper from the lantern, he touched match flame to wick. The safe had not been opened, but on the floor in front of it was a gauntlet riding glove. He picked it up and turned it about, examining it closely.

A man leaped up the back steps, came rushing across the back room, floor and halted abruptly in the doorway. It was Ed Wade, the night deputy, and his cocked gun was pointed at Jeff. He recognized him and lowered the weapon.

"Oh, it's you, boss. What happened?"

"Somebody tried to open Hank's safe. I made a dive for him and found how hard iron is by smashing my fool head against it."

"Get a shot at him?"

"No; but he got one at me. Missed. He left his calling card behind him. Look at this, Ed."

Wade took the glove and held it close to the light. He examined its outer surface, then turned back the cuff, exposing the lining.

"Huh! Got his initials here in ink. S. B. Why—that's Slug Benjamin!"

"S. B. stands for something else, too; but in either case it means Slug Benjamin." He picked up the lantern and started for the back door. "There's one thing I want to check on right now. Come along, Ed."

He led the way to the alley, and in a few minutes had found where the burglar's horse had been tied. He held the lantern close to the ground and examined the tracks. Then he gave an exclamation of satisfaction.

"What is it?" asked Ed, peering at the prints.

Jeff pointed. "Look at that one." "Broken end calk?"

"Yes, Ed. I found the tracks of the fellow who shot John Stover. The left hind shoe had a broken end calk just like this."

"Huh! Well, reckon there wasn't much doubt as to who shot John; but now we're certain. This glove ties Slug Benjamin to these tracks, and the tracks you found ties him just as tight to John's murderer. It's shore too bad you can't hang a killer twice."

Glenn rode into Cougar shortly before noon on Sunday and insisted upon taking Jeff to the hotel for dinner.

"Anything new in the metropolis of Cougar?"

"Slug Benjamin tried to rob Wolfanger's store last night. Caught him working on the combination of the safe."

"Caught him! You mean—?"

"No. He got away."

"But you're sure it was Slug? You recognized him?"

"Not by his appearance, but by a glove he left behind. It had his initials on the lining."

Jeff told him of the affair and mentioned the broken calk on the shoe of the horse he had tracked. "Proves beyond any doubt it was Slug who killed John Stover. I found the same tracks there in the alley."

"Well, it's contributory evidence. Better watch your step, Jeff."

Well, I'll be making tracks for the Crown. Sure you won't come along?"

"Can't. Today's my turn on duty."

"Jeff, my boy, how'd you like to have a lifetime job as foreman of the Crown one of these days?"

"As definite as that, huh?"

"Well, I don't like to take too much for granted; but I'm feeling pretty good about it. I'll give them your regards—and your regrets. So long!"

Chapter 21

On Monday morning he went over to Glenn's place and had breakfast with him. Glenn was in high spirits.

"I was going to look you up if you didn't come over," he told Jeff. "Jeb King asked me to tell you, in case he didn't see you first, to stop at the bank the first chance you get. I think they're going to ship some gold on Thursday. He wants to talk it over with you. I'm heading for Briscoe right now. Be back Wednesday afternoon unless something unexpected happens."

"How's Connie?"

"Fine as silk. We had lots of fun. You should have been there. Well, make yourself at home here; I've got to be on my way."

He rode breezily off, and Jeff went down to the bank.

Jeff told Jeb, "There's a big chance that the rustling of your stock is going to stop."

He went on to tell of his investigations and his interview with Chuck Gale. "I think he saw the handwriting on the wall. If it doesn't stop, it's just a case of catching up with him."

Jeb listened in amazement. "Jeff," he said, "that was the slickest piece of business a feller could pull. That just supposin' didn't leave Chuck any grounds to get mad on, but it told him plain as day where you stood. I'd say you used rare judgment."

"Now what about that gold shipment?"

"Sure. We're going to ship on Thursday and you can start getting ready. Jake Wheeler, down at the livery corral, furnishes the wagon and team. Tell him to have 'em ready, and before you start you'd better give the whole outfit a good goin' over. We can't afford to have a breakdown between here and Briscoe."

"How about the men to go along?"

"Jake'll do the drivin', and the feller that generally rides with him is Todd Stone. Stover generally took Syd Deem and Ollie Wilks as guards inside the wagon. You can use your own judgement, but they're all good men. Whoever you select to take with you, tell 'em it's all set for Thursday and to report here at the bank at five in the mornin'. There's nobody about at that time, and all we have to do is tote the box from the vault to the wagon. There's about twenty-five thousand dollars' worth of dust and nuggets, and it'll weigh over a hundred pounds."

Jeff whistled. "That's a lot of money."

"You bet it is, and if it gets away from us before we turn it over to Wells Fargo it's my loss. But no need worryin' about that; the way we handle it, a dozen men could get it. Somewhere around noon you'll have to camp for dinner. Give the horses a rest and the boys a chance to stretch their legs. Pick a place out in the open. John used a different one each time. It might be a good idea to ride over the trail sometime between now and Thursday and pick your location."

"I've already done that. This gold shipment has been on my mind ever since you told me about it."

"Good. You ought to make Briscoe by sundown, and the train stops there about eight. Drive straight to the express office—it's right in the station—and keep the boys on the job until the box is in the express car. Then give 'em the night off to celebrate and drive back the next day. Got it?"

"I think so. As you say, I don't see where we can go wrong. I'm to be here at five on Thursday morning?"

"That's right."

The business finished, Jeb took up another matter.

"Glenn told us about Slug Benjamin tryin' to crack Hank Wolfanger's safe Saturday night. You sure took a chance, jumpin' him in the dark."

"I didn't jump him," said Jeff ruefully. "I jumped the safe. Never knew Hank kept so many stars in his store. When this gold shipment is out of the way I aim to go after Slug in earnest. Glenn tell you about the broken calk?"

"Yes. Findin' it was another bit of good work, Jeff."

"It was right there for anyone to see. Now I'll be on my way. I'll have everything in shape by Thursday."

On Wednesday afternoon he went again to Glenn's place to find that young man had returned from Briscoe shortly after noon.

"Can't entirely neglect Cougar," Glenn said. "But there's absolutely nothing doing here. Guess I'll go back to Briscoe tomorrow."

"Why not ride along with the gold shipment?"

"Too slow. Jeff, I'm a busy lad these days. And I'd have to get up at four o'clock. As it is, I can leave at eight and pass you long before you get there. Say! How about grub for your dinner?"

"I've cooked up a mess of bacon and beans and Jake Wheeler's fetching a long couple loaves of his wife's bread and some dried apple pies. I could use your coffee pot, though."

"Take it. And I'll grind some coffee for you. Also there are plenty plates and cups and eating tools, if you need them."

He got a sack of coffee and the coffee mill, and sat down with the latter between his knees and began to grind. Jeff busied himself getting together plates and cups and knives. The articles were packed in a basket, the big pot of beans set beside it on the table, and all was in readiness.

They ate dinner then, and later took a walk about town, stopping at the hotel for a couple drinks. When they had returned to Glenn's place, Jeff said, "We'd better move your cot into the office; then I won't wake you up getting breakfast. They set up the cot in the front room, then sat down on its edge to chat and have a last smoke before turning in. By ten o'clock they were both sound asleep."

It was just four o'clock when Jeff opened his eyes the next morning, squinted at his watch by the light of a match, and got quietly out of the bunk. Some two hours later, five courageous and well armed men with a special box containing twenty-five thousand dollars worth of gold were on their way to Briscoe.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Mr. and Mrs. John Gable Myers, near here, will mark their 15th wedding anniversary shortly. They were married at St. John's Lutheran church, Hampton, by the Rev. J. Harold Little, Hanover Lutheran clergyman. Mrs. Myers is the former Miss Ethel M. Stambaugh, a daughter of Mrs. W. G. Stambaugh and the late Mr. Stambaugh, Hampton. The couple are the parents of two children, a daughter, Eileen, a student at the local junior high school; and a son, Gerald, who attends Green Ridge school, near their home.

Boy Scouts of Troop No. 88, of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church are among the boys attending the Boy Scout Retreat at Camp Conewago this week-end, a spiritual activity for Catholic Scouts of this section in charge of the Rev. Father Lyons, principal of the DeLone Catholic high school, McSherrystown.

Preston B. Dallmeyer, who has been agent throughout this territory for the Prudential Life Insurance company for several years, has been promoted to an assistant superintendent's position and with his wife and daughters, Sylvia and Priscilla, plans to move to York to assume his duties. Mr. Dallmeyer is a navy veteran of World War II, and he and his wife, the former Miss Ruth Bentzel, York, recently observed the 13th anniversary of their marriage.

The local fire company and its Women's Auxiliary are planning to conduct the annual three-day firemen's carnival for the benefit of the organization on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 7, 8 and 9, at the grounds of the Sons of Veterans armory. The grand prize to be awarded at the conclusion of the carnival is a television set, and there are several lesser prizes. Refreshments and activities will be featured, with music by a different entertainment group on each of the three evenings.

The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, who has served as pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church for nearly 12 years, has been under medical treatment and observation this month for a condition with which he has suffered for several years. Father Hartnett's condition is reported to be not serious at all, though he will remain in the care of his physicians for some time. The Harrisburg diocese has provided a substitute priest to conduct Father Hartnett's duties during his illness.

Harry W. Weaver, local antique dealer for many years, is seriously ill as the result of a stroke which he suffered while walking on the street near his home several days ago. Mr. Weaver has been ordered by his physician to discontinue his business, and public sale of his entire stock and equipment, both at his home and at his shop on Lincolnway East which he opened more than a year ago, has been arranged for Monday, June 20, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Edith Weaver, who had been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ryland J. Robinson, was sufficiently improved to accompany Mrs. Robinson, her husband and children, Rebecca, Roberta and Joseph, and another daughter, Miss Karlene Weaver, who resides with them, to Lebanon on Sunday where they participated in the celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the ordination to the Roman Catholic priesthood of Mrs. Weaver's brother-in-law, the Rev. Paul D. Weaver, now pastor of the Assumption Catholic church, Lebanon, and a former resident of New Oxford.

Other local relatives who were present at the solemn high mass at the Lebanon church and the festivities following throughout the day were: Mrs. James R. Weaver and Mrs. Corrine Weaver, sisters-in-law, with the Misses Marie J. and M. Bernice Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weaver, and Mrs. Harry J. Sterner.

Also among the large group present was Miss M. Agnes Weaver, a niece of the pastor, who is now nursing at the hospital at Camp Ritchie, Md.

Mrs. Ambrose P. Wagner, who suffered a fracture of her back when she fell from a stepladder at her home one month ago and who for a time was in a serious condition, has improved sufficiently to be able to be about her home. Mrs. Wagner will be able to spend the summer with her family at their cottage on Dicks Dam. The Wagners went to the cottage this week.

Jeff busied himself getting together plates and cups and knives. The articles were packed in a basket, the big pot of beans set beside it on the table, and all was in readiness.

They ate dinner then, and later took a walk about town, stopping at the hotel for a couple drinks. When they had returned to Glenn's place, Jeff said, "We'd better move your cot into the office; then I won't wake you up getting breakfast. They set up the cot in the front room, then sat down on its edge to chat and have a last smoke before turning in. By ten o'clock they were both sound asleep."

It was just four o'clock when Jeff opened his eyes the next morning, squinted at his watch by the light of a match, and got quietly out of the bunk. ## Life Term Ahead For Holdup Slayer

Philadelphia, June 18 (AP)—A jury of nine women and three men deliberated an hour and 50 minutes and convicted Charles H. Norman of first degree murder in the holdup slaying of two state liquor store clerks March 12.

The jury, in its verdict yesterday, fixed the penalty as life imprisonment. The death penalty was ruled out because "too much circumstantial evidence was involved."

The 23-year-old Norman, who was trapped April 9 while staging another holdup, already is serving sentences totaling 80 to 100 years at Eastern penitentiary for other banditry. Norman signed a nine-page statement admitting the liquor store slaying. During his three-day trial, however, he repudiated the confession, declaring it was forced from him by police brutality.

Herman Weintraub, 35, and Howard Robinson, 57, were slain in the liquor store holdup, and a third employee, Fiedler Jackson, 28, was wounded by the gunman.

STOP WORK AS PROTEST

Easton, Pa., June 18 (AP)—A work stoppage was called today at the Easton and Phillipsburg, N. J., plants of the Ingersoll-Rand company in protest of what a union official called layoffs. Lewis M. Barna, business manager of Local continue "until some kind of agreement is reached" on layoffs.

The National Board of Fire Underwriters recently made an engineering inspection of San Francisco's fire fighting facilities and turned in a report. The San Francisco Chronicle then wrote an interesting commentary on what fire protection involves.

"The report brings out the fact that a complete fire protection system is more than a fire department," it said.

"It is a water supply and means for efficient distribution of the water to the scene of a blaze.

"It is a fire alarm system that will not break down. . .

"It is the auxiliaries of the fire department, the police department, the facilities of the telephone company.

tion of the county. The state prescribes that at least 25 "pieces" of game, birds, rabbits, or other game must be released on the training area each year in order to maintain the license. Martin said the county association plans to place much more than the minimum amount of game on the 100-acre area each year in order to build it up rapidly.

The purpose of not preventing hunting during hunting season is to provide an area where there will be abundant game, and thus the dogs can be more quickly and better trained.

Present plans are to seek to have field trials held in the association's training grounds at some future date when the game population has been built up.

Chairman Martin said that any member of the association can use the field for training dogs, and that anyone interested in training dogs should contact him. Non-members may not use the training area.

The next meeting of the fish and game association will be held July 21 in the form of an outing at South Mountain Fair Grounds.

Ocean Grove, N. J., June 18 (AP)—

An "educational dinner conference" will highlight today's session of the 167th annual conference of the Church of the Brethren. Ten thousand church members are attending the meetings. Dr. A. W. Cordier, assistant to Trygve Lie, secretary of the United Nations General Assembly, is to be the principal speaker at tonight's dinner.

SEEK ACCORD ON AUSTRIAN CASE AT PARIS

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
Paris, June 18 (AP)—Western power diplomats concentrated today on removing the obstacles delaying agreement with Russia on an Austrian independence treaty.

The American, British, French and Russian Foreign ministers, after a recess, will reconvene tomorrow to try and settle the problem in what may be the last secret session of their four-week-old conference.

They also are expected to discuss a "code of fair play" which would eliminate the barriers to trade and transportation in Germany.

Yugoslav Conference
The western diplomats continued today to study in detail every aspect of Russia's price for reestablishing

Austrian independence. They were seeking to determine just what assets in Austria Russia is likely to claim as part of her settlement.

Meanwhile, leaders of the pro-Tito "Slovene Liberation Front," a minority group supporting Yugoslavia's territorial claims against Austria, have been called to Vienna for an emergency conference with officials of the Yugoslav legation. It was believed the conference was to discuss the Austrian treaty negotiations.

And in Belgrade, the editor of "Borba," Yugoslav Communist party newspaper, complained that Russia apparently had agreed with the western powers in opposing Yugoslavia's border claims and reparations.

Treaty in Doubt
However, the issue of an Austrian independence treaty was still in doubt here after a week's secret negotiations, but diplomats asserted the odds slightly favored an accord.

Agreement between Russia and the western powers on an Austrian treaty, would be the greatest

PONY EXPRESS RACES ACROSS PLAINS AGAIN

By BASIL C. RAFFETY
Scottsbluff, Neb., June 18 (AP)—The staccato hoofbeats of the pony express resounded across the Nebraska plains once again today beating out a revival of a never-to-be forgotten chapter in America's westward expansion.

The Nebraska Horse Club association, sponsor of the commemorative ride, moved their horses to points along the Lincoln highway to carry pouches of mail clear across the state on horseback.

The first two sections of the ride start today from Scottsbluff, and from Pine Bluffs, Wyo., on the western Nebraska border. The two sections merge at Sidney for the dash to Gothenburg, Neb., with an overnight stop at Ovid, Colo., site of an old pony express station.

Get Assist From Autos
The eastern leg of the trip starts at Blair, Neb., on Nebraska's eastern border, Sunday morning.

The trip from Blair to Gothenburg is 243 miles—more than a day's ride for the pony express rider who raced across the plains 90 years ago at the rate of 200 miles a day.

Hence a second section of this ride will start at 5 a. m. (CST) (6 a. m. EST) from Central City, about half way to Gothenburg.

TO ASK TAX REFUND
New Castle, Pa., June 18 (AP)—The Petroleum Retailers Association of Pennsylvania plans to offer the next session of the Legislature a bill asking a two per cent refund for dealers on the gasoline tax. The idea, according to a resolution adopted by the association yesterday at a statewide meeting here is to take care of "shrinkage and other unaccountable losses" in gasoline sales.

The Belmont Stakes is the oldest of the three races that make up racing's triple crown.

"Labor Conquers All" is the state motto of Oklahoma.

Central City the mail pouches will be relayed ahead to the speeding horses by automobile, then will be carried to Gothenburg on horseback.

The two rides—600 miles, together—will end at Gothenburg, where the old Fred Machette pony express station has been preserved in the city park.

The commemorative ride will involve more than 500 people and as many horses. Most of them will ride only a mile or two in the relay instead of switching horses as the old pony express riders did.

Loaded Beer Truck Crushes Little Boy

Scranton, Pa., June 18 (AP)—A mother stood by helplessly as her four-year-old son was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a loaded beer truck yesterday. The victim was Michael Ratchford, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ratchford.

As the youngster darted across the street, the mother stood on a nearby porch and witnessed the tragedy.

Lt. Leonard Smallecombe identified the driver of the truck as Russell Woelkers, who was held in $3,000 achievement of the four powers in two years.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was reported in close contact with the Kremlin over the western plan for a way of east-west life in Germany. The plan is said to call for: Formation of a four-power liaison committee in Germany (comprising each power's occupation chief) to develop economic, trade and financial relations between the eastern and western zones; promotion of a free flow of goods, people and information between the east and west, and full and lasting implementation of the New York agreement for ending the blockade and counter blockade of Berlin.
